
INCLUSIVITY AT HESSENLAND

EVERYONE DESERVES TO FEEL WELCOME

WRITTEN BY KARISSA RAMSEY

At Hessenland we feel that being an ally is not just about saying you're an ally. Being an ally means you're constantly learning and striving to become more aware of others and your own biases and taking the time to learn each day.

Our entire team does its absolute best to ensure Hessenland is a more inclusive space, and making sure that we hire the right people who are open to learning and teaching one another and ourselves to recognize discrimination and micro-aggressions so we are able to ensure Hessenland is a space where everyone, both staff and guests, feels they are safe, welcome, and included.

Next Posting:

"ST. JOES" WHITE

We feel that inclusivity goes beyond the typical LGBTQIA+ restrictions.

At Hessenland we are also inclusive of our guests despite any differences in race, gender, age, sexual orientation, religious affiliation, language, financial status, disabilities, and any any other differences that may be present.

While we do try our best, some of us are still learning, and in addition, we welcome being taught about inclusivity in a respectful way: If we accidentally use the wrong pronouns, for example, please respectfully correct us and we are more than happy to apologize and use the right ones! 99% of the time when something like this happens, it's because we genuinely didn't know, not because we were trying to be rude! We would much rather be corrected than have you be offended throughout the duration of your time with us!

DARLENE [O] ROURKE
PHOTOGRAPHY

We do our very best to be as respectful as possible to all of our guests and ensure that everyone is treated like they are the most important guest we have. We do not tolerate rudeness or discrimination at our establishment, events, or on our social media pages!

